Resistance Manual currently in preparation by this Office, and conferences with members of the Assistance Operations Course staff have been scheduled.

7. The Office of Training has prepared two charts for training purposes relating to aspects of the Soviet Intelligence Services. One chart depicts the organizational structure of the Armed Forces Intelligence System and the other portrays the historical development of Soviet internal and external intelligence services. The Chief of the Soviet Intelligence Branch, Staff C, has indicated a desire to obtain large numbers of these charts for widespread distribution throughout the Agency.

8. Item 7 of last week's summary reported that a Junior Officer Trainee (Lt. [REDACTED]) had been transferred to the Office of the Secretary of the Army as an aide to the Chief of Staff (Brigadier General Conrad Stanton Babcock), U. S. Mission, United Nations Organization. A similar assignment as aide to Major General Frederic E. Glantzberg, Commanding General of the 17th Air Force with Headquarters in Rabat, French Morocco, has been given to another Junior Officer Trainee, [REDACTED]. Both assignments are significant in that they indicate the flexibility of JOF positions during training and reflect recognition of both the quality of these young men and the value of the OCS Program to the Agency.
